Mexico's children are supposed to go to school through the 6th grade. But in our border region, too many children "fall between the cracks" because their family is too poor to pay for tuition, uniforms, or supplies. If a family cannot afford these things, they can ask the Mexican government to exempt their children from having to attend school. This helps the family financially, but it also traps them in a cycle of poverty.

We praise the Lord for those who have a heart to help us again this year, as we do what we can to help these children receive the education available to them.
